TimeSpace - In[ter]ventions

November 17th, 2017, 10am to 4pm

Pre-program to the 7th Austrian Development Conference, 2017

17th - 19th of November, Graz

www.entwicklungstagung.at

Political, ecological, social, economical and cultural changes – is it a multi-dimensional crisis or emancipation on multiple axes? In an effort to make the multitude of complex global changes both explain- and understandable, the TimeSpace – In[ter]ventions initiative offers students, former students and "non-established" interested parties an opportunity to present and discuss their work, ideas and projects. It is held in cooperation with Mattersburg Circle, as a pre-program to the 7th Austrian Development Conference, 2017 in Graz, the largest conference in the fields of global and development politics in Austria. It is a space for researchers, activists and other interested parties to meet up and share ideas. TimeSpace – In[ter]ventions is, in modified form, a sequel to the "Forum for Young Researchers".

TimeSpace – In[ter]ventions is organised in association with [In\[ter\]ventions](#), a network of students, former students and interested parties that aims to offer a platform for discussion and joint actions, that emerged from the students' conference of the same name in 2016.

Development, as we understand it, is a malleable and broad-spectrum term, as is the scope of its criticism – we thus welcome all contributions that deal with social conditions and transformative processes, may they be national or international, societal or social. This includes inputs on development, social struggles, education, economics, poverty and sustainability – we want to invite everyone who is working on, thinking about, researching, shaping and fighting for socio-economical transformation.

Take part!

Send us your abstract (form below) before October 16th, at interventions@ie.bagru.at and register here.
